MUSICAL PROGRAMME AT SOCIETE FRANCAISE

A meeting of the French Society was held on Thursday in the Common Room of the R.V.C., with Miss Given Fielders in the chair. The programme, which was put on by the first and second year, was remarkable for its delicate precision and its novelty. There was evidence of the great training of the participants on which Mme. Touren is to be congratulated.

The first year, in French peasant costumes, sang a number of French "Chanson de Guerre," among which were the following:—

a.—"Marche de Zouaves."
b.—'La Bataille de Reichoffere."
c.—'L'Alsace-Lorraine."
d.—"Madelon."

The second part of the programme depicted a gathering of peasants also, and numerous choruses were mingled among several very pleasing songs and recitations, during which some clever piece so facting were done by members of the chorus.

The soloists were Miss K. James, who sang "Cruelle Berceuse" very sweetly ,and Miss Jean Banford, who sang "Chanson du Patour," whereas Miss Desbarats recited "Le Petit Gregoire" cleverly. Among the choruses were:

"La Paimpolaise."
"Ronde de la Lune."
"Ronde des Chataignes."
"En Avant les Gars."

Then after having sung "La Marseillaise" the meeting adjourned, and tea and cake were served, the only drawback to the performance was the very small audience, owing to other activities, but on the next occasion it is hoped that a large audience will turn out to appreciate the very excellent efforts of the Societe Francaise members.

FURTHER INSTRUCTIONS NEEDED.

It is in the cemetery at South Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, by the way, that the sign appears: Persons are prohibited from picking flowers from any but their own graves. — American Lumberman (Chicago).

DEFINED.

The visitor was examining the class.

Can any little boy tell me what a fishnet is made of? he inquired.

A lot of little holes tied together with strings, smiled the never-failing bright boy. — Wesleyan Advance.

CARNIVAL AND BASKETBALL ARE WON BY McGILL WHILE 'VARSITY TAKES HOCKEY TITLE

McGill Won Winter Sports with Twenty-one and a half point Lead —— Basketball team Fights its Way to a 27—20 Victory, but Toronto Scores Big Win and Earns the Hockey Championship for the Year.

After winning every place in the ski jumping competition, the McGill skiers left the Cote des Neiges jumps on Saturday afternoon undisputed champions of the McGill Winter Carnival, and also of the combined meets held under the auspices of the Eastern Intercollegiate Ski Association. This is the first time for three years that the Montreal athletes have captured a victory from Dartmouth and in fact, up to the close of Saturday morning's activities on the Campus it seemed evident that the Green and White team would maintain the lead they earned a week ago at the preliminary meet held at Hanover, N.H.

The most interesting event of the week-end of activities was the concluding number on the programme. This was held on the jumps of the Montreal Ski Club, when twenty-two noted skiers contested for the individual trophy given by the McGill Ski and Snowshoe Club, and when teams representing two of the leading colleges of the East competed for intercollegiate honours. Until the judges had made out their reports late in the afternoon speculation as to who the winners would be was varied, but when the points were announced by C. Harlow, of the Montreal Ski Club, it was learned that the winners had only achieved their goal by points carried out to the second decimal place.

Before the largest crowd of spectators which ever have witnessed winter sports on the Campus, the Ski and Snowshoe dashes were run off at 11 o'clock Saturday morning. The weather was somewhat cold, but the abundance of snow and the brightness of the sun more than compensated. In all of the races McGill carried off at least two places, rebounding one of the Intercollegiate Track Meet held at the Stadium last October. In the Ski obstacle race, which did not count for points, McGill failed to obtain a place.

The morning results were as follows:—

Ski Dash—150 yards.

1st heat—1, R. Bowler, Dartmouth; 2, D. B. Foss, McGill; 3, C. E. Shelbey, Middlebury.

2nd Heat—1, D. W. Forbush, Dartmouth; 2, Mann, Dartmouth; 3, A. Starke, McGill.

Final Heat—1, D. B. Foss, McGill; 2, A. D. Starke, McGill; 3, C. E. Shelbey, Middleburg.

Snowshoe Dash—150 yards.

1st Heat—1, D. R. Anderson, McGill; T. Mitchell, McGill; 3, Hollquist, Middlebury.

2nd Heat—1, W. Mitchell, McGill; 2, Tully, Middleburg; 3, W. Blake.

ONTARIO CLUB IS TO HAVE PARTY

Skiing, Skating and Dancing Are All on Evening's Programme

Tonight the Ontario Club is conducting an affair that embraces all the different activities that could possibly be covered by one party. Dancing, skiing and skating are on the evening's program as well as the usual refreshments that have made the club famous from one end of the campus to the other. The party is not restricted merely to the members of the club, but any others who desire to go can secure tickets.

At 8.15 the party is to start in the Union, and those wishing to skate can go to the rink, while the skiing party will start up the mountain. After the more strenuous part of the program it is expected that the crowd will eat and dance, the hour of ten being set for the return of the athletes to the Union. Although the orchestra has not as yet been named those going on the party can rest assured that the best of music will be in the ball room of the Union after their return from the snow and ice.

Tickets are on sale at the tuck shop in the Union and can also be secured from any of the following: W. W. Davis, E. M. Woolcombe, J. Puddicombe and O. L. McCullough. The price is but fifty cents per couple.

Toronto, February 17. (Special to McGill Daily).—By defeating McGill this afternoon by the score of 9—2, the University of Toronto hockey team won the last lap of the annual race, and for the fifth time in succession a Blue and White sextet brought into the 'Varsity camp that much coveted trophy, emblematic of the Intercollegiate hockey championship. However, the Toronto skaters were not able to claim the honours until they had survived a hard series, having been seriously threatened both by Queens and U. of M., and having tasted defeat at the hands of the Red and White squad.

Saturday's game was of vital importance to the U. of T., in that a defeat might mean a tie for first place, with Queen's, and it was quite evident to every spectator in Toronto's Arena Gardens that the home team were taking no chances. With their first string forward line, with a strengthened defence, and with Langtry in the nets, the 'Varsity squad presented one of the best line-ups seen in the Intercollegiate series this year. Five minutes after the opening gong sounded, Louie Hudson slammed one at "Slim" Morris, and from that time on the result of the game was never in doubt. Time and time again Larson and Hudson, occasionally aided by Westman, would work their way down the ice, and with excellent combination fool the McGill defence, and have Morris at their mercy. On the other hand, the McGill offensive department was decidedly off colour, and with the exception of Captain Flanagan, were rarely able to penetrate the Blue and White defensive line. Kennedy, moved up from U. of T.'s intermediates, strengthened Toronto's back section, and with Wright and Ferguson presented a stubborn opposition.

THE WEEK-END IN SPORT.

McGill won the Winter Carnival with a lead of 21 1-2 points over Dartmouth.

Red and White basket men defeated University of Toronto 27-20

'Varsity water poloists won against McGill by score of 4—1.

Queen's sextet met defeat at the hands of U. of M., 2—0.

Toronto, Feb. 17. (Special to McGill Daily)—In a game featured by fast and clean play and long shooting, the McGill basketball quintet broke into the winning column when they defeated the powerful 'Varsity squad on their own floor tonight by a score of 27-20. The contest, staged in the Hart House gymnasium, was replete with thrills from start to finish, and the blue and white supporters were given the first opportunity since 1915 to see their intercollegate representatives lose to a visiting aggregation. There was not an exceptionally large gallery present, but there were a few husky supporters of the red and white on hand, who yelled themselves hoarse when they saw the McGill men firmly grasp the chance of another championship, after suffering two early season defeats.

Art Manson Good.

Although Mendelsohn was the high scorer for the red and white, chalking up ten points, Art Manson, McGill's powerful centre, was the veritable pivot of the team. He was in every play, blocking passes, breaking up combination plays, and seemingly in every part of the floor at once. As for picking out any other stars for the visitors, this would be impossible. They all turned in great games, and realizing that a defeat would be disastrous, they were determined to win, and win they did. Amaron and Crain played a sterling defence and blocked the opposing forwards, who tried to break away for a basket. Little started on the forward line and worked well. He was replaced by Turpel, who was McGill's high scorer during the second half, dropping the ball into the chains three times.

Varsity Had Heavy Defence.

The blue and white squad presented a strong opposition, with a heavy defence and a fast working forward line. McLean scintillated for the home team, tallying twelve out of the total of twenty points.

Burgess was good, and made the only two fouls he had a chance to throw. Graham, the curly-headed heavy defence, broke up many of McGill's plays, and Bell was dangerous at all times.

During the first half the two teams divided the honors equally but the red and white five broke into the lead during the second half, and were seven points to the good when the final whistle blew. The game was seldom delayed through personal or technical fouls. 'Varsity was awarded two free throws, making both, while McGill was awarded eight but only managed to ring in one.

The game started at a fast pace and in about two minutes the rooters burst into wild action when Bell put the ball through the hoop for 'Varsity's first points. The enthusiasm was short lived, however, for Mendelsohn and Ed. Crain chalked up four points in quick succession and McGill took the lead. The blue and white redoubtable forward, McLean, rang in another, and a few minutes after Toronto were two points up.

U. of T. Takes Lead.

'Varsity worked some good combination, but failed to find the ring, and Mendelsohn and Little, McGill forwards, resorted to long distance shots, but, because of gym. apparatus, hard luck and slight inaccuracy, they could not score.

The game became fast and McGill was awarded a foul, which Manson tried

Miss Florence Gardner Armitted to General Hospital in Critical Condition

Miss Florence Gardner, 2nd year M. S.P.E. and star hockey player, was very seriously injured while skiing on the mountain on Saturday. She was coming down a steep hill and fell heavily, bumping her head.

She was taken to the General Hospital, where she regained consciousness, and it was found that an injury to the spine was sustained, resulting in both legs being paralyzed. An operation may be performed this morning, and it is hoped will meet with success.

MONTREAL, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1923.

THE PERFECT PROFESSOR.

Absolute perfection of professorship is an ideal that is perhaps impossible of complete attainment, but it is in the sincerity with which so many march breast forward towards this goal that success is won.

The perfect professor has three articles of faith: he believes in his subject; he believes in his students; he believes in himself.

First, in his subject, that it is the best of all possible subjects for study, research, and application. This faith can come from no half-knowledge, but from real first hand acquaintance with authority or experiment. And it must spring from a sincere love that is not diverted by thought of vocational advantage or propaganda, but is a pure love of the subject for its own sake, for the delight of its discoveries, the neatness of its inventions, the harmony and perfection of its laws, the intricacy and efficiency of its processes.

And the perfect professor has faith in his students. He loves youth for its own sake, as he loves his subject, keeps himself young among his students, and sees through their eyes the importance of matters that engross them. He is not contemptuous of their little learning, not embittered by their failures. He can arouse their interest, and kindle their enthusiasm for the subject he is teaching. This is the final touchstone of professorial perfection — the ability to instil the student with an enthusiasm for the subject of his study —and it demands not only faith in the subject, and faith in the student, but makes imperative the teacher's faith in himself.

Such a standard of perfection is a high one, and one which might be thought rarely attainable among such a hard-tried body of men as college professors. But as a general rule, this is not the case; and few and unfortunate are the students who cannot look back to at least several of his teachers whose faith in his subject and his students has awakened in him an answering flame of enthusiasm.

TRADITION.

A university becomes renowned for its traditions as for its fame in scholarship or in the field of athletics. And it is justly so, for a tradition to become embodied in, and, in certain cases, inseparable from, the student life of the institution, it must have cause, it must have purpose and it must have application. In the first place, a usage or form that merits sustentation must have its source in a set of circumstances which contribute towards its adoption; it demands a background of influences. There must be a need, and in this need lies its cause.

Secondly, tradition, in its foundation and in its development, has purpose. Those responsible for its inception and those responsible for its continuance, must be convinced that their effort is serving an end. The staunchest advocates of tradition as a benefit in undergraduate life or in national affairs are necessarily firm in their belief that their propaganda has a definite object, the nature of which may be various, but which is worthy of achievement because of some good, some progress which will be coincident with the attainment. It is here that is found the relevancy of purpose to tradition.

Finally, tradition must have application in the life which its existence exemplifies; for disuse is the enemy of all custom. Where there is no niche in student activity, for the tradition which is essential to the welfare of the latter, tradition will soon become a voice of the past, a memory draped with fond imaginings of what used to be, no longer an asset in its strength, but rather a detriment in its decay. Tradition must be kept before those whose pride it professes to be. Without this application in the life it typifies, it must languish and with its decadence will be, it may safely be affirmed, that of the life of which it is a part. In short, it may be said that tradition reminds us of what is most noble in our past, it retains ever before us, our ideal of the future, while its constant application reminds us of the place of past and future in the present state of things.

THE WEEK-END.

Victories in Basketball from 'Varsity, and in the Ski and Snowshoe Meet from the American colleges of Dartmouth, Middlebury and Williams are compensation, in some degree, for the defeats suffered by the Hockey team and Swimming Club at the hands of Toronto 'Varsity. The victory of the Basketball squad renders possible a three-cornered tie in the Intercollegiate Series, dependent upon a victory by the Red and White over Queen's next Saturday. The Winter Carnival was an occasion for an undoubted triumph by the local representatives, who overcame the small lead obtained over them by Dartmouth ten days ago in Hanover, N.H. and finished twenty-one and a half points ahead. The Hockey team and the Swimming Club were outclassed in Toronto. 'Varsity again holds the Intercollegiate Hockey Championship, made certain by McGill's defeat on Saturday. The Water Polo championship will not be definitely decided until the Blue and White swimmers compete against McGill in Montreal. The B., W. and F. were disappointed in their trip to Kingston, the Assault-at-Arms being postponed until next Friday and Saturday. Meanwhile the student may rest after one crowded week-end and so prepare for the next, which promises almost as great activity.

EDITORIAL NOTE.

A McGill March Song, a counterpart in the undergraduate life of McGill to the college songs of the great American universities and their English contemporaries—something which is desperately required at McGill and which has finally received consideration. At Friday's "Informal," Crocker and Kelly, both Medical students, and both known at college for the part they have taken in orchestra work, placed before the students attending, a production entitled "McGill," a song composed and written by those presenting it for the first time. Such an effort deserves not to pass ignored; steps should be taken to acquaint the student body with the tune and the words of the production. Any large gathering should serve as a means for this, while printed copies of the song would serve their purpose in its introduction. Its merit will be proven by its reception.

The Editor
McGill Daily:

Dear Sir,—As we have been hearing a great deal about European Student Relief, and as a number of McGill students are asking why, when there is so much poverty and unemployment in Canada, we should send contributions abroad, the enclosed answer, which was given to me by Miss Helen Reid, will probably be of interest to McGill.

Miss Reid is well-known as the head of the Canadian Patriotic Fund, and has already taken a great interest in European relief work. She is a member of the committee which volunteered to organize this work in Montreal, at the time of Miss Margaret Wrong's visit to McGill and she already deserves a large share of the credit for collecting and shipping the sixteen cases of books, clothing, etc., which have been forwarded to Switzerland for relief distribution.

Her reasons, therefore, are given as the result of experience and considerable thought, and are backed by a conviction which she has expressed by active work for the European Student Relief.

Sincerely yours,
MARY I. FRY,
R.V.C. '23.

Why Should we Contribute to European Student Relief?

1. Because the economic recovery of the affected countries is a matter of international importance, and for the sake of the world for the sake of civilization —"ut omnes unum sint"—student relief in these countries should be liberal and effective.

2. Because, in most of the relief areas, the supply of students is not equal to the countries' minimum demand for professional men and because trained men and women are needed for the work of construction and reconstruction of these states. (Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, Esthonia, Latvia, Lithuania and Russia.)

In Poland and the Baltic States Government positions before the war were not in the hands of the racial majority in the country, and under the new order the men and women of the racial majority must be trained for their new responsibilities. There is a lamentable shortage of teachers in Poland. In pre-war times, under the old regime, 80 per cent. of the population was illiterate. Many of the soldiers learned to read in the trenches during the war when educational opportunities were offered them. In Polish Galicia, when typhus was raging, there was only one doctor to every 150,000 of the population, , , It is calculated that since 1914, 30,000 Russian doctors have perished in the war and epidemics, i.e., one-third of the whole medical faculty of Russia. Cholera, scurvey, typhus attend on famine. Fugitives overrun the whole country, leaving behind them a trail of corpses which no attempt was made to bury. It is in Western interests to prevent the advance of disease. This can be done in part by increasing the number of doctors in Eastern Europe.

3. Because the future teachers, doctors, engineers, agriculturists and other students with intellectual training are in need of good clothing, instruments, books and funds Charity it is true, begins at home, but it should not end there!

4. Because we have put our hand to the plough but our furrow is not finished! Relief work has been started in 135 Universities and Higher Colleges in 12 countries to which students of 41 lands have contributed. Men and women of 13 nationalities have given service outside their own lands. Among the agencies contributing through loan of workers and transport of gifts of money, clothing and food are the Society of Friends, the American Y.W. and Y.M.C.A., the Imperial War Relief und the Australian Commonwealth Fund, Red Cross Societies and the Love the Children und. Governments of the relieved and relieving countries have also helped liberally, but best of all is the self help and co-operative work of the student body itself!

Help them to help themselves! Use your head! Have a heart! Lend a hand, Old McGill!

(Signed) HELEN R. Y. REID.

CAPTAIN CUTTLE'S COLUMN

HUNING THE JAZZ.

Dear Captain Cuttle:—Unaccustomed as I am to inditing letters to the correspondence columns of the public press, I feel that I am fulfilling no less than a sacred duty, which I owe to the aesthetic sense of my fellow students in sending to you, my dear sir, a protest against the brand of music played at last Thursday's Jazz Tea in the Union. Instead of the usual five piece orchestra the only instrument performed upon was the piano, and, will you believe me, Sir, the jazz which was played on this melancholy occasion was of the nature of that of which "la vache est mourue." Can you explain to me the reason of this apparent lapse from the usual high standard of the Jazz Teas!

TROMBONE PUBLICO.

Ans.:—Your trombone playing must be a sight for sore eyes, as you are evidently tone-deaf. You were not at a Jazz Tea on Thursday afternoon, as that afternoon the sorely abused Cafeteria piano was being treated to a much needed tuning.

CAPTAIN CUTTLE.

USE LINIMENT.

Dear Captain:—I am an Arts sophomore, and as I have often profited by the kind advice which you hand out to others, I am venturing to approach you upon a matter of extreme delicacy. I was at the class sleigh drive and dance, which was held last ed gently for me to sit down. There was a comfortable chair just in front of her, and I proceeded to place myself upon it, when she suddenly kicked week, and while there I was introduced to the most divine damsel that it has ever been my good fortune to gaze gladly upon. She was seated in a cosy dim-shaded corner, and motion the chair away, and I was precipitated heavily to the floor, which was adjacently posterior to me. Now, Captain, if you can read the heart, will you please tell me what she could have meant by doing such a thing. Is there any hope for my suit?

Yours in a fluster,
EGBERT.

Ans.:—I suppose she was trying to make you fall for her, and as you evidently fell pretty hard I should advise the application of Blinks's Horse Liniment. There may be some hope for your suit if you press it at once.

'VARSITY POLO MEN LEAD BY THREE GOALS

Won Saturday's Game By Score of 4—1

REILLL STARRED

Vernot Scored McGill's Only Goal

The 'Varsity water poloists got away with a three goal lead on Saturday afternoon, when they defeated the McGill team by the score of 4—1 in the first of the home and home series. The game was played in the Hart House plunge. Reilley, of the Toronto squad, was probably the most effective player in the tank, scoring three goals, and causing the McGill team a lot of anxiety. Bell, in the nets, also proved to be a stumbling block in the way of the Red and White. He is a big man and it is a wicked shot that slips past him for a point.

The fast swimming George Vernot was best for the visiting aggregation, but he was heavily guarded, and when he did break away, was unable to get past the goalie, with one exception. Jim Ross had hard luck with some of his shots, missing the 'Varsity nets by the narrowest of margins.

The game throughout was featured by a great deal of rough play, and the officials did not check up the players closely. The McGill swimmers did not feel at home in the Hart House tank, as it is larger and deeper than the Y. M. bath, and as a result they found themselves playing under difficulties.

'Varsity Scores First.

'Varsity got the toss and elected to defend the deep end. The Blue and White won the race for the ball on the throw in, but shot high. Grahame-Browne, McGill goaler, shot out to Kyle, who was fouled by a U. of T. man. The Blue and White again attacked with two weak shots, but managed to draw first blood by scoring from a scrimmage in front of the McGill nets, after a corner throw.

'Varsity, 1; McGill, 0.

After the players had gone into action again, the ball travelled up and down the tank, and though Waldron was left open he failed to score. Ross and Vernot worked a nice bit of combination, the former letting a fast shot fly at the 'Varsity nets, but the ball made connections with the goaler.

Vernot Tallies.

McGill chalked up their only point during the first quarter, the goal being made on a corner play. Ross passed the sphere out to Vernot, who fooled Bell, slipping the ball past him with a beautiful back flip.

'Varsity, 1; McGill, 1.

Play re-opened with Anson blocking a pass from Reilley, and McGill made an ineffective attack. The proceedure was then reversed, U. of T. taking the offensive but Grahame-Browne blocked the bombardment of Reilley and Wells. 'Varsity, however, renewed the attack, and the McGill net-minder had no chance to save when Reilley grabbed a loose ball and shot a fast back flip.

'Varsity, 2; McGill, 1.

The quarter period ended with the Red and White forward line attacking, but the score remained stationary.

'Varsity Increases Lead.

The second quarter witnessed an increase in 'Varsity's lead over the McGill squad, and shortly after the ball was put in to play, Grahame-Browne was called upon to save a dangerous back flip. After a corner throw, the Red and White broke away and went down the tank, but Bell was not to be fooled, and the attack failed. Toronto's third tally came after three or four scrimmages in front of the McGill citadel. The McGill nets, during the general mix-up, were left open, and in consequence 'Varsity's total jumped to three.

'Varsity, 3; McGill, 1.

After the toss in, both teams indulged in some weak shooting, during which the home goal was bombarded in vain. Reilley came back in place of Harston, and half time blew with 'Varsity in the lead by two goals.

Grahame-Browne Kept Busy.

A centre tank scrimmage opened the third quarter, and a 'Varsity swimmer sent the ball wild. Grahame-Browne then came under a stiff attack, and blocked two fast shots, performing his well known submarine stunt on the last. Vickerson, who substituted for Kyle, sent a nice pass over to George Vernot, but the Toronto goaler again proved too strong. 'Varsity swimmers managed to hit the McGill bar twice, and the play centred around the visitors' end, with Reilley unguarded at one time, but shooting wild. Toronto, as in the past, substituted on several occasions, Wood replacing Wells. A foul was called on McGill; a scrimmage took place near the home goal; the ball went to the McGill end again, but Grahame-Browne saved twice, and the period ended without further scoring.

U. OF M. TAKE FINAL GAME FROM QUEEN'S

Two Lamarre Brothers Score Only Points of Game

2—0

Toronto Again Win Intercollegiate Hockey Championship

As a final and definite reminder to the Queen's team that their hopes of the hockey championship had been shattered, following the news of the Toronto victory in the afternoon, University of Montreal sent the Kingston team down to a 2 to 0 defeat on Saturday evening. Judging by the play in the week-end game, there was no doubt concerning which was the better outfit, for the French students outplayed their opponents from beginning to end of the contest and it is difficult to imagine how they have suffered such a heavy defeat from the same team a few weeks ago.

Antoine Lamarre scored the first goal of the game seven minutes after the play had started in the opening period, and the home squad maintained its lead of a single goal until the middle of the final twenty minutes, when Philippe Lamarre added the second and last tally of the evening for his team. A goal scored by brother Antoine, of the Lamarre family was disallowed in the final period when Smith was injured on the play which brought the Montreal player close in on the goal. As it happened, the goal was not needed, so that the Silver and Blue players did not complain about the loss.

Captain "Tune" Desbiens, of the Montreal team, gave an outstanding exhibition of hockey both offensively and defensively, and it was largely as a result of his play that the French students gained their victory. The forward line played some very good hockey, however, and their combination work was in marked contrast to the display of individual work that has characterized their games in the earlier part of the season. Boucher played well for Queen's, but suffered quite a lot from penalties which came as a result of a too frequent use of his stick on the opposing players. The contest marked the first appearance of "Doc" Campbell in Montreal this year, and he played a steady game on the defence for the tri-color. Quinn was easily the better of the opposing goalers and saved his team from a greater defeat.

The Final Score.

Reilley started the fourth and last spasm by giving a variety of weak and strong shots, but the McGill net tender handled them all. Vernot and Ross both got away for a threatening attack, but their shots missed the mark, and the U. of T. supporters breathed sighs of relief. Vickerson, of McGill, and Wood, Toronto, were both given an opportunity to rest by the referee. Reilley and Anson came together, with the result that the McGill man suffered a ripped bathing suit. While he was trying to attract the officials' attention, the Blue and White chalked up the last point. Vernot shot high over the Toronto net, and play went up and down the tank, till the whistle blew.

Final score: 'Varsity, 4; McGill, 1.

WINTERSAULTS

In an interview with the Daily on Saturday, Dick Bowler famous ski somersault expert from Dartmouth College, gave a description of the sensations experienced while doing this thrilling stunt. Though at first extremely reticent, he gradually succumbed to the urging of the Daily news hound, and finally consented to give a few tips on how to do it for the benefit of the students who are tired of their studies.

While the somersault jump was first tried in this country in 1908 by a Norwegian, Adolf Olsen, on the old Montreal Ski Club jump, Bowler and his fellow student, John Carleton, were the first native Americans to perform the novel feat. These two were the pioneers, but they were soon followed by others, and now several of the Dartmount skiiers are in the habit of now and again taking a whirl over the jump. At most of the intercollegiate meets Bowler performs a tandem somersault with his team-mate, Bishop, although, due to the narrow landing space of the Montreal jump, they satisfied themselves with single somersault on Saturday. So far none of the McGill ski jumpers have essayed the stunt, at least on the big jump, although one well-known skiier admits he can somersault beautifully without trying.

Bowler and Carleton first tried the stunt at the Dartmouth Carnival five years ago Neither had ever seen the trick done before, although they had done it a few times on the diving-bord, so that trying it off the ski jump was a matter of getting up the required daring, which Bowler admitted was then only a dollar pint in the good old U.S.A Before essaying the somersault on th jump, they practiced it a few times o the mat in the gym, until they had the knack of turning a flip forward and landing on their feet. The old Dartmouth jump then in use was especially suitable for a stunt of this nature, as it was only of moderate size the distance record being 85 feet, with a good steep landing slope. Turning a somersault off the huge trestles now in use at most of the jumps is a very different matter, Bowler declared. The Montreal jump is especially difficult, as the landing space is rather narrow with some danger of landing on the flat area before the steep part of the hill is reached.

The somersault is greatly in demand as an exhibition event at most of the meets around the country, and the Dartmouth boys get many invitations to perform their feature at Winter Carnivals both in Canada and the States.

ANOTHER HOCKEY VICTORY FOR R.V.C.

Defeated M. A. A. A. on Saturday—Score 2—1

The R.V.C. hockey team played their last game in the City League Saturday morning, when they defeated the M.A.A.A. girls by a score of 2-1. The College team has lost only one game this year, which gives them second place in the League.

The teams Saturday morning were very equally matched, and the game closely contested throughout. It was also unique in more than one way — among others—the most loyal supporters of the R.V.C. team were found in a nearby snowbank and wheen on inquiring they found that the score was one all called lustily in the last period to the R.V.C. team to give them "one more —just one more." Thus the college team, spurred on by the enthusiastic backing of these miniature fans, did eventually gain the victory.

The M.A.A.A. team showed a vast improvement on the game which they played in the earlier part of the season. G. Gallery and T. Epstein especially played a good game for the losing team.

The R.V.C. team had to work hard to keep the wrong end of the score from mounting. L. Kerr saved the situation a number of times. Miss Stocking scored both goals for R.V.C. All the goals were the result of individual rushes, although both teams showed good combination at times.

M.A.A.A. started the scoring a few minutes after the first period opened, when Miss Epstein put one past Miss Kerr. Just before the period ended Miss Stocking made a wonderful shot which landed the puck in the corner of the net. In this period, which ended with score 1-1, both goalers stopped a number of good shots.

In the second period both sides worked hard to break the tie. Miss Epstein was slightly injured when she collided with the boards, and retired for a few minutes. The other team dropped one player also, as the M.A.A.A. had no subs. Miss Stocking after some pretty stick-handling, netted the second goal for R.V.C. With one minute to play M.A.A.A. made a desperate effort to score, but the game ended with the score 2-1 for R.V.C.

There were only two periods owing to a delay in starting. Both teams wish to thank Mr. Cook, who refereed so excellently under adverse conditions. The line-up was as follows:

R.V.C. INTER-COLLEGIATE BASKETBALL

Thursday—Saturday of This Week

R. V. C. HALL

Tickets Now on Sale—Large Attendance Expected

From Thursday to Saturday the Royal Victoria College will be the centre of attraction for the whole University. For during these three days, the championship of the Women's Intercollegiate Basketball League will be determined. Spectators are promised the most closely contested of games, for 'Varsity is confident of retaining the championship, while McGill and Queens are each determined that the trophy shall go to their respective universities.

The McGill team has been practising faithfully and shows the greatest improvement in all directions. Since the loss of the first game of the season the team has a clear record of well-earned victories.

The team, with the exception of one, is composed entirely of members who played on last year's intercollegiate team. Miss D. Russell, the captain, is now playing for her fourth year on the college team. As a jumping centre she has few equals, and can always be relied upon to play a stellar game. Miss R. Dunton the side centre, although only in her first year, has earned her position by her splendid play during the season.

Miss J. Spier is perhaps the most versatile member of the team. Having played both centre and forward in past years, she began the season as defence, but quickly resumed her position as forward, where her possession of a strong one-hand shot is used to full advantage. Miss M. Leggatt, also playing for her fourth year on the team, is noted for the accuracy of her brilliant field shots. Miss Z. Slack, another versatile member of the team, began as a forward in her freshman and sophomore years, but for the past two years has been playing defence, where she has demonstrated her ability to break up combinations and intercept passes in an ingenious manner. Miss E. Dunton, a sub on last year's team, has shown marked ability as a defence, and will undoubtedly prove a great asset to the team.

The three subs, Miss E. Shlackman, Miss M. Pick and Miss P. Murray, have demonstrated their ability when called upon to play and can be relied upon to play a good game should their services be required.

The 'Varsity team is partially composed of new members. Miss B. Taylor and Miss M. Asman, who both played a splendid game in centre last year, and Miss B. Aher, afiite defence, are the only members of last year's team.

Of the Queen's team nothing is known, but it is understood that it is also composed almost entirely of new members.

Tickets for the games are now procurable from the porters of the various buildings, at Strathcona Hall, the Union and the R.V.C. It is hoped that the expected interest will be shown in these games, resulting in a large attendance Teachers throughout the game — the wings proving equally good fighters, but "Shag's" proteges were too much for them. Miss Phyllis Powell went through with the ninth goal just before the final whistle sounded.

M.S.P.E. DEFEATED TEACHERS' TEAM

Stand Well in Hockey League

By a decisive victory over the teachers on Saturday morning, the M. S. P. E. hockey team is now well on the way to capture the league championship. They have not lost a game so far, and have only one more to play. The score on Saturday was 9-0.

The game took place on the rink in the Hollow and was the best performance the Phyiscal Eds. have put up this season. Miss L. Roberts started the scoring ten seconds after the game began, and within two minutes of the second face-off shot the second goal. Miss Flo. Gardner made the third goal by a clever piece of skating, zig-zagging up the ice and through the defence put a neat shot into the nets.

In the second period the opposing goal was continually bombarded, and although Miss M. Fowler, the Teachers' goal-keeper made some good saves, the puck went between the posts for five more tallies from the sticks of Miss L. Flanagan, Miss G. Roberts, Miss P. Powell and Miss B Dennis.

The Teachers made valient efforts to score in the third period, but failed owing to their inability to lift the puck from the ice, and the excellent defensive work of the M.S.P.E. team, Miss Florence Gardner being especially effective in this respect.

Miss D Campbell worked hard for the Line-up:

U. OF T. TAKES HOCKEY CHAMPIONSHIP

McGill Off Colour.

Those who saw the McGill aggregation send 'Varsity down to the 5—3 defeat in Montreal, were practically unanimous in their decision that the Montreal skaters were far from travelling at top speed. It must be remembered that the squad arrived in the city only a few hours before the game, and this in itself is enough to detract from the playing qualities of the team. Good combination on the part of the Red and White was sadly lacking, and the results were disastrous.

Flanagan, scoring two goals, was the outstanding McGill player, and again proved himself to be one of the greatest stick handlers in amateur ranks. He wormed past the defence on numerous occasions, but Langtry was always on the job, and spoilt many a good goal.

"Pinky" Morris was one of the hardest workers of the day, but his lack of weight told against him. Both "Pinky" and "Flin" became really popular with the fans before the game was over, and received a good share of unbiased applause.

The McGill defence turned in a fair card, but were outmatched by the speedy 'Varsity forward line. Dempsey did some heavy body checking, while McGerrigle was occasionally used on the offensive. McNaughton, hard at work, was trying to break away, but it was not his best game of the season.

Of the three substitutes, Bell, Munroe, and Wyse, the last turned in the best exhibiton. It was Wyse's first appearance in the senior ranks, and he certainly justified his promotion.

"Slim" Morris, in McGill's goals, was troubled with the day lighted rink, and missed the glare of the lights. He was left absolutely helpless in many occasions, and cannot be held accountable for the greater percentage of the goals that slipped past him.

Coach Shaughnessy used his subs. freely and the 'Varsity team did likewise.

Game Fast and Slow.

As to the game itself, it was fast and slow by fits and starts, the fans being excited or amused. There seemed to be a tendency for all players to pile up on the ice, and on two or three occasions there were as many as six down at once.

The struggle throughout was clean, with the exception of some heavy body checking, and there was nothing approaching dirty work. There were many who cheered for the losing team, but there was little in the way of organized rooting for either side.

'Varsity had a good band in attendance, and the rest periods were enlivened by lots of music.

Carson Was Late.

The game started with Gordon at centre for 'Varsity, as Carson was late in arriving at the rink. Play opened with a rush, but "Slim" Morris stalled off the Blue and White attack. Langtry and "Slim" were both called into action in quick succession, both saving. Flanagan picked up a nice pass from McNaughton, but Langtry was on the job, and proved effective. "Flin" and "Pinky" Morrison both broke through in rapid succession, but the Blue and White net man was too good. Hudson and Dempsey made heavy connections, and Flanagan passed to Morrison, but the shot was weak. Both forward lines opened up and five minutes after play started Hudson pulled Morris out of goals and slammed the puck into the unguarded twines.

'Varsity, 1; McGill, 0.

After the first tally, Carson came on to centre, and Wyse and Bell replaced McNaughton and Morrison. The Red and White and Blue and White skaters pulled off the first "pigger-pile" stunt of the day behind the McGill nets, and Hudson shot a wicked one from centre, but "Slim" cleared. A McGerrigle and Flanagan combination was badly broken up.

Morrison and McNaughton came back, and shortly after coming on for Westman, Fergusson was injured slightly, and the game was delayed. Westman reappeared. Carson and Hudson started some fast combination, but shot wide, and "Flin" again fooled the 'Varsity defence, but failed to find the nets.

Scored from Centre.

Louis Hudson chalked up the second one for 'Varsity when he fired the rubber from centre ice. The puck struck the McGill goalie and found its way into the Red and White citadel.

Varsity, 2; McGill, 0.

Carson again drove the disc past "Slim," but the goal was disallowed because of off-side. Both teams indulged in some heavy attacks, which failed. Munroe and Bell substituted for McNaughton and Flanagan, and shortly after another mix-up resulted, during which Louie found the puck, and the rubber landed for another tally.

'Varsity, 3; McGill, 0.

Dempsey broke up several rushes, and Munro was given an official rest for tossing Carson. The play towards the end of the period was nearly all 'Varsity's except when McGerrigle got through and shot wide.

End of first period: Varsity, 3; McGill, 0.

Morris Kept Busy.

The second period opened with Munroe still on the bench, but he was soon back on the ice. Carson bored through and kept Morris busy. Hudson brought the puck down, but was forced to the side. A general scramble again resulted in front of the McGill goal, but the puck went wide. "Pinky" Morrison was given a trip to the bench, and Flin's attack was broken by the defence. McGerrigle tried two rushes, but was forced out to an impossible angle. McNaughton had a good chance with Langtry out of the nets, but failed to make the best of the situation. "Pinky" came back on the ice and Wright shortly afterwards trailed off the ice for tripping.

With almost fifteen minutes gone, and no further scoring, things looked better for the Red and White, who were getting away with some good combination. Wyse and Munroe came on for Flanagan and McNaughton, and Gordon replaced Hudson. Morrison got bottled up on the attack, and Bill Wyse worried Langtry with a wicked shot. McNaughton, Flanagan, Carson and Hudson came back, and seven players made impromptu pyramids around the 'Varsity goal. Out of the debacle, McNaughton failed to get one past the Toronto goal tender.

Carson Scores Twice.

Carson scored twice in rapid succession, shooting two high shots with lots of speed, and McGill was five goals behind.

'Varsity, 3; McGill, 0.

Flanagan and McGerrigle worked down the ice, but failed to get connection, and the play lagged round the McGill nets. "Slim" was called upon to make some great saves during another mix-up, and Wyse was working well when the whistle blew.

Second period: 'Varsity, 5; McGill, 0.

With the opening of the final spasm, McGill started off with a rush, and "Pinky" came on for McNaughton, who got a bad shaking-up. The Red and White hopes got another jar, however, when Kennedy played golf from centre ice, and the twirling and twisting rubber landed in the corner of the visitors' nets.

'Varsity, 6; McGill, 0.

The Montreal skaters kept right at it, however, and Dempsey was forced to leave the ice upon the referee's request. Fergusson shortly followed the McGill defence. Carson worked his way through, and "Slim" was left with no hope of saving.

'Varsity, 7; McGill, 0.

Flanagan Tallied.

With U. of T. away ahead, it looked as if it was all finished but the shouting. Half a minute after Carson's goal, however, McGill's doughty captain slipped one past Langtry after a beautiful bit of combination with "Pinky" Morrison. Less than two minutes later, Flanagan repeated the performance, this time aided by McNaughton, and this ended the scoring for the Red and White.

'Varsity, 7; McGill, 2.

Glacial Acrobatics.

The game became a lot livelier, and "Flin" was applauded when Bell replaced him at centre. Play hung around the U. of T. goal, and another exhibition of glacial acrobatics was given when six players found themselves everywhere but on their skates. "Pinky" and "Flin" were working fairly well, but Langtry was always there. Westman and Wright manoeuvred superb combination with Carson, who dropped the puck into the goal of the Red and White for another tally.

The game again became more exciting, but Westman notched the ninth and final tally fifteen seconds later.

Final score: 'Varsity, 9; McGill, 2.

and failed. Bell tallied again, putting U. of T. four points ahead.

'Varsity brough t on Braid for Duffil and Turpel replaced Little. Mendelsohn missed two and the play went up and down the floor at a fast pace.

Mendelsohn dropped the ball into the chains on a beautiful long shot, but the blue and white kept the lead by scoring again. The red and white star forward, however, cut the lead to two points, and just before the half time whistle Amaron equalized when he shot the leather through the ironring.

Half time—McGill, 10; 'Varsity, 10.

McGill Forges Ahead.

'Varsity opened the second period by breaking into the lead for the last time, and this advantage did not last for long, for Turpel chalked up two more and the totals stood at twelve all. Mendelsohn then tailled again, and from that time on the blue and white did not lead.

'Varsity took two minutes rest, and coming back, both teams set a heart-breaking pace, and the home player dropped a fine shot from the corner.

Manson scored his first basket of the evening, and when the ball was out into play again, 'Varsity made some wild passes Mendelsohn failed to make a free throw and Crain tallied from centre floor, giving McGill a four point lead.

The play became decidedly in favor of the red and white, and after Amaron broke up a nice bit of combination, Art. Manson increased the lead to six points.

'Varsity again took two minutes rest. McGill and Toronto both missed good opportunities, but Turpel added two more when he again rattled the chains.

Manson missed another free throw, but does some superb blocking and good combination for U. of T. was made an impossibility. Mendelsohn again lost out on two unhindered shots, and 'Varsity brought on subs. Toronto was awarded two free shots on a personal foul and Burgess did not waste his chances, making both sure.

The Final Scoring.

Manson made one out of two fouls. Turpel and Mendelsohn each chalked up two more points and 'Varsity dropped a long one for the last basket.

McGill took two minutes rest, but shortly after play was resumed, the final whistle blew, with the score 27-20 for McGill.

FINAL BATTLE IN BASKETBALL LEAGUE

Teams from Medicine in Final Contest

Tonight at five o'clock the final match of the Freshman-Sophomore Basketball League will be played. The two teams that are to battle out the honor of holding the title are both from the Faculty of Medicine, and as both are powerful teams, the match will in all probability be a hard fought exhibition of basketball.

In the past three months the two classes that have been in the league have each held a series of games. The second year section was a close battle, but the Med. team was able, by hard playing, to come out ahead, although the Arts squad was not far behind. The teams have played twice and three times a week, and have spent as many more hours in practice. Without doubt the strongest team won, and material has been developed in the other teams that should next year be used to full in the vacancies in the city league and intercollegiate teams.

The Freshman section of the league was as hard a contest as that of the Second years. The teams were all quite keen on getting into the play-off, and the captains made every effort to get the best men on the floor. The Med. team throughout the year showed the best style of play, using some well-planned combination plays and shooting with perfection. They should be able to put a winning team on the floor if they are up to their usual scoring form.

The committee that has been in charge of the handling of the teams since last December has been highly successful in doing the work. The plan of the basketball club to give more men an opportunity to play the game was developed last fall by Crain, who is the president of the Club. Ont of the teams was withdrawn from the Junior section of the City League, and three men who were interested in the game were appointed to draw up a schedule and run off the games between the first two years. These men were L G. Norton, Science '25; A. O. Gilpin, Comm. '24, and P. T. Bruthaput, Comm. '25

The game tonight is the final play-off between the two sections of the league. Already it is rumored that the two classes are to pack the gymnasium with their backers, so that it would be wise for those who wish to see the game, and who are aware of the seating capacity, to arrive early.

I. G. Norton will handle the game, which is to start at five o'clock in the Molson Hall.

Timekeeper: T. Graydon.

Starter: A. O. Leslie, W. Blundell.

When the last jump had been made by the jumpers, it was announced that two Dartmouth men would perform their celebrated somersaults off the newly constructed jump. It was with keen anticipation that the four hundred spectators fixed their gaze on the hillside and watched Bishop make the final preparation before going down the steep incline. As the American student arrived at the end of the take-off he neatly' doubled up and circled around in the air before the breathless crowd, and shooting forwards and straightening up again, regained his feet on the slide some 80 feet from the end of the ski shoot. After earning applause which echoed and re-echoed among the slopes of the mountain, Bishop stood at the base of the hill to witness an equally pretty and equally appreciated somersault by his team-mate, Dick Bowler, who, despite the trying demands made on his physique during the carnival, had sufficient "pep" left to please his audience. These stunts were the first public exhibitions of somesaulting on the recently constructed jumps, and reflected no small amount of credit on the "nerve" of the American skiers.

There was a two-fol dawarding of points for the jumping competition. The first was the individual cup presented to the skier who obtained the greatest number of points, and for which prize members of the Montreal Ski Club were eligible to compete. This was given to P. A. Miller, M. S. C., who secured 18.9 points, his best jump being 111 feet. The second award was granted to the students who figured in first, second and third places, being:—

1—R. L. Whittall, McGill, 18.73 points; best jump 106 feet.

2—A. L. Gravel McGill, 18.72 points best jump 112 feet.

3—P. Waite, McGill, 17.98 points; best jump 106 feet.

4—Maxwell Dartmouth, 17.82 pts; best jump 107 feet.

5—A. O. Leslie, McGill, 15.58 pts; best jump 86 feet.

Officials at the jumps were:—

Judges: A. C. Harlow and Russell MacKinnon, of the M.S.C.

Markers:—Selby Cope and O. N. H. Owens.

The points scored at the Montreal meet were:

McGill	41
Dartmouth	15
Middlebury	7
Williams	0

It was unfortunate that other invited teams were not able to be present, including the University of Montreal; New Hampshire State College; Mass. Institute of Technology, Boston; and University of Vermont.

The final results of the combined meets held at Hanover and Montreal were stated as:—

	Points
1—McGill	65
2—Dartmouth	43½
3—New Hampshire State College	9
4—Middlebury	8
M. I. Technology	½
Vermont	0

The Whittall Cup awarded by Whittall, of Sci. '12, to the winning team of both meets of the Eastern Intercollegiate Ski Association was won by the McGill team.

DELIGHTFUL DINNER DUE TO DENTALS

The students of Montreal University will be represented by Mr. J. Giroux, and an invitation has been extended to Toronto University. A general invitation has also been extended to the Dental Profession of the city.

The tickets are being sold to the Dental students at a slight loss, and any deficit will be made up from the funds of the Dental Undergraduate Society. J. W. Abraham is chairmau of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the dinner, assisted by a committee composed of representatives from each of the undergraduate years. Unbounded enthusiasm is being shown by the dental students, and a ninety per cent tonruut is pledged so far.

A new departure is being followed this year in having representatives from the different faculties and in inviting city practitioners. This is wth a vew to showng the Dental and outside worlds what dentistry and its devotees look like, how they act, and in general to place Dentistry and Dental students in their proper position in the professional world—for it has been realized that the tendency on the part of Dentists is to stick too closely among themselves.

The programme planned outside of the usual number of toasts, renditions by the Dental Undergraduate Orchestra and otherwise a general good time. The tables will be arranged so as to seat parties of six and eight; a large head table will also be provided. In this way, although the boys will be under the indirect surveillance of their professors a too close scrutiny will not be possible.

The committee in charge is: J. W. Abraham, Dent. '23; W. S. Swetnam, Dent. '24; D. P. Cool, Dent. '25; D. J. Watson, Dent. '26; and A. J. Macmillan, Dent. 523.

T. Hound: Mrs. Smith is dying for me to marry her daughter.

X. T. Hound: Any other inducements? — Yellow Jacket.

What makes the trees so red in fall?

Intelligent answer: Because the blush to think how green they were the summer.
